

Colorado Clinical and Translational
Sciences Institute (CCTSI)

UNIVERSITY OF COLORADO DENVER | ANSCHUTZ MEDICAL CAMPUS

Biography

Lorenzo Ramírez has worked as a Community Research Liaison in the various Latino communities of metro Denver with the University of Colorado Clinical and Translational Sciences Institute (CCTSI) for the past 15 years and is currently working on the CCTSI Colorado COVID-19 Community Engagement Alliance (CO-CEAL) data collection team. Lorenzo also works with the Older Adult Research Specialist (OARS) program's facilitation training team with the University of Colorado School of Medicine, and the newly formed Near Northwest Area Plan Steering Committee, sponsored by the City and County of Denver District 1, addressing the impact of gentrification and development in the neighborhoods of Northwest Denver that he has called home for the past 40 years. Lorenzo is a new member of the Arts Alliance for Health Equity and is the Founder / Artistic Director of the award-winning Grupo Folklórico Sabor Latino, Inc. which recently celebrated its 35th anniversary.